SCHONELL

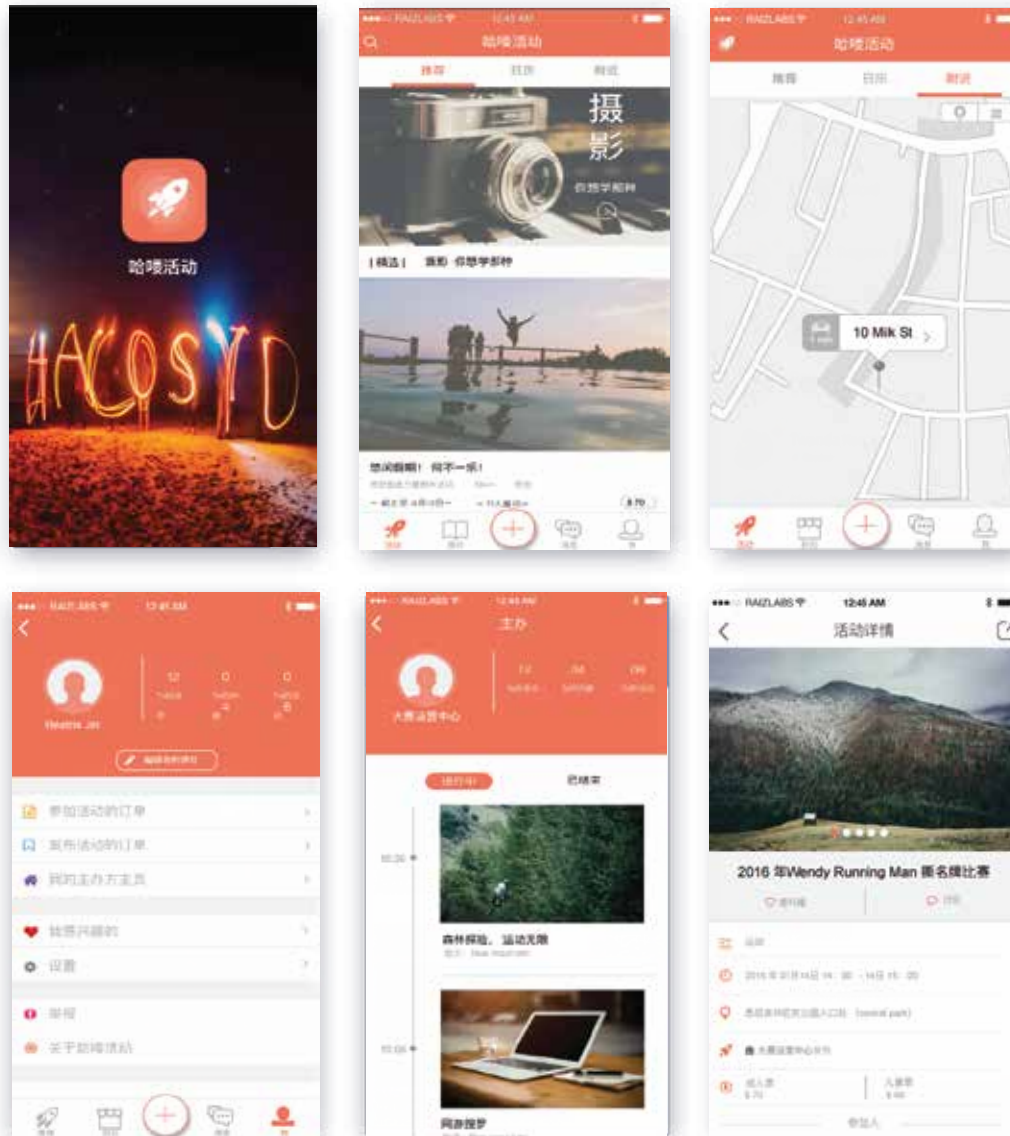

Schonell is a Singapore based security technology company committed to providing customized wireless telecommunication solutions for residential, commercial, and industrial applications, facilitating security access, surveillance and database management, in order to experience enhanced security, mobility, and accessibility.

TIPPER

This app puts the 'social' back in social media. Before we started wire-framing for tipper, it was key to understand the target audience, Thus the user interface (UI) was designed to be familiar, simple and intuitive to use. To design the app successfully, emotional response to colour, layout and inclination of the application had to be established.

HALO EVENT

Halo is your handyman in an app. If you have a leak, then book a event in a matter of moments to your day. Here I helped develop the branding that was already existing into marketing material and most recently the intro into their app.

Testimonials & Recommendations

Noodle Zero

SK8 is one of the most responsible companies I have ever seen. During the 3 months project collaborating with them, the Director Jack and other staff are professional and patient. I am not a technical person, I just want to say they shine my eyes for what they did for me. Great company that I will always keep contact with!

JIN STUDIO

We are in love with our website; it is beautiful, clean, simple, feminine... Everything we had hoped for! You have helped us take our product to the next level. I'm very happy with our results. Good job... SK8!"

I really like the way they set up their own website. The design team are helpful consultants and are really knowledgeable about what to put in your web design and development. The services were great. I'd recommend these guys to anyone. Good job done. Looking forward to do long term business with you.

Halo Event

Jack and his team at SK8 have been amazing, with a keen eye for detail and design. They have taken the time to understand my brand and create a website that fits perfectly to showcase my products. I have an ongoing relationship with them as they continue to offer the best service around for my brand development and future projects. I can't recommend them highly enough."

A reliable company with amazing web page works! Their designs are definitely awesome and professional. Great experience with SK8 :)

Thank you
